Call for Scholarship Applications

Deadline for applications is July 29, 2016

Erudition Scholarship CFA Serbia, a non-registered private foundation, is accepting scholarship applications for the Chartered Financial Analyst (CFA) Program exams to be held at the test centre in Belgrade in June 2017.

Initiated in the fall of 2013 in Toronto, Canada, the mission of the Foundation is to further the potential of world-class financial talent in Serbia by offering scholarships to outstanding individuals and support their professional development by tapping into the e-learning structure of the globally recognized Chartered Financial Analyst Institute.

The selected candidates will have demonstrated themselves through exceptional academic achievement, personal and professional excellence, and determination to enrich their qualifications by being awarded the professional designation of a CFA charterholder – considered by many to be the gold standard in finance today.

Our vision is to strengthen the capabilities of young professionals and foster role models with the highest social and environmental awareness intent on enhancing their local and global communities. To this end, the Foundation has in the past awarded scholarships for the: June 2014; June 2015; and June 2016 CFA Program exams.

Interested candidates may submit, by July 29, the following:

- * CV/resume (including language proficiency and citizenship)
- * A response to the question: If you were a movie director and money and resources were not an issue, what would you make a movie about and why?

Email the above to: Ana Vjetrov – Program Coordinator – a.vjetrov.cfa.serbia@gmail.com; and a copy to: cfa.serbia@gmail.com

Recipients of the scholarship will be informed on August 10. Thereafter, it is a simple four step process: the scholarship recipient registers on-line with the CFA Institute; emails their invoice for payment processing to Erudition Scholarship CFA Serbia by August 15; we issue payment directly to the CFA Institute; the Institute processes payments within 7 business days and emails to the registrant the digital format curriculum eBook.

Best wishes,
